Baseball Organized For Coming Season

A well attended meeting was held in the Opera House Monday night last, when the programme for baseball for the coming season was mapped out and decided upon.

As was done last year, a town league of four teams will be selected, and will play a series of games to see who wins the Town League. Then from these four teams a Town Team will be chosen to represent the Town in the Southern Alberta Baseball League, which it is hoped will be organized this summer.

If this is done, it is hoped to include Cardston, Magrath, Raymond, New Dayton, Warner, and Milk River in the lineup, and to draw up a schedule for the teams as in former years.

The situation was discussed from all angles, and it was decided that in the interest of the young players a Town league should be operated to give all the aspirants a chance to develop and prove their worth, and that at the same time the Town could support a team in the League if it is organized, so that Raymond will have opportunity to see league ball again after a lay off of a couple of years.

Ross Humphries was selected as Captain of the Town team, and the Captains for the teams in the Town league have not been selected yet, but will be announced very soon, and work on the grounds will start at once, so that the boys can commence getting their work-outs and getting into shape for the season.

We expect to have a good ball season and everyone ought to boost the sport and make it go big.

"Damaged Lives" Carries Message Home

The picture and lectures "Damaged Lives" shown here to regrettably small audience Monday and Tuesday nights last, carried its message home to all those who witnessed it.

Portraying vividly the danger of a moment's thoughtlessness when not entirely master of one's self and carrying this through the lives of two lovers, showing the mental anguish and hell that they suffered, and showing some of the wrecks of human lives, resulting from disease, frequently unknown and unsuspected, yet leaving its brand on all the offspring, it certainly left everyone with a very serious feeling of the responsibility and necessity of purity in these matters.

The lectures, by talking pictures, following the showing of the picture were very educational and well worth while, and will help everyone who saw them to a greater appreciation of life and the value of it.

The management of the Capitol and the Canadian Social Hygiene Council are to be complimented on bringing this important message to Raymond and her people, and it is certainly regrettable that more people did not see this really valuable educational picture.

J. H. Wall and wife moved into their new home this week, just east of Ross Salmon's home.

R. T. Graham, local Frigid-aire Agent sold a new Frigid-aire to Dr. F. M. Hall last week.

G. G. McRae, of the Mid-west Paper Sales, Calgary, was a Raymond visitor on Thursday of this week.

E. L. Spackman has put the foundation in for a new home, between the homes of Arthur Dahl and Milton Strong.

Mrs. I. B. Roberts, Arthur Dahl and S. I. May were in Magrath last Sunday evening representing the Stake General-Committee.

Work started Monday on a new home for John Landysheff, Chemist at the Sugar Factory. The house is being built across the street south from the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Snow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Atterton spent Sunday in Raymond visiting with their son Frank and wife, and old acquaintances here. They returned to their home in Cardston Sunday evening.

The breezes Monday morning were very undecided as to just what direction to blow from. They were from the north, east and south, all in a few minutes and finally decided on the south west breeze for most of the day.

Rain and snow in Manitoba, wind storms with plenty of dust in Saskatchewan, and high winds and sunshine in Alberta, was the weather menu for Sunday last. A great variety indeed for a small area.

Theodore Ehler, who recently moved from Magrath to Raymond, was busy last week plastering the new home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McKean on the Citizens Lumber Co. property on Broadway. This will be a beautiful and comfortable home.

A. W. and J. G. Kirkham and Ira McBride were in the foothills country south and west of Cardston Wednesday afternoon, where they obtained some nice young pine trees for planting in their yards here. They report a very enjoyable trip.

The regular meeting of the "Bonne Amie" club met at the home of Mrs. J. T. Simpson. All the members were present. Some new stitches in Fancy Work were demonstrated, and a jolly time enjoyed by all. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Opera Pleases Good Audience

Lovers of good music had a treat last Saturday when the Stake Mutual presented Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "The Pirate of Penzance." The Opera House should have been packed in appreciation of the ambitious efforts of Wm. C. Stone and his troupe of talented performers.

The whole program went over as a big hit and reflects credit on all concerned with the presentation. The solo and the group singing was effective and the choruses were especially pleasing, while the orchestration, played by a specially recruited orchestra added to the enjoyment.

Joseph McLean was apparently the surprise of the evening. His singing drew heavy applause and he made a big hit.

Oliver McLean and Myron Holmes also pleased, while Fritz Gehmlich played a difficult role in an outstanding manner. Bert Combs and his policemen drew rounds of applause whenever they appeared.

The role of leading lady was taken by Mrs. Monte Olsen of Cardston. Her fine voice pleased whenever she sang. The other ladies in the cast were Muriel Webster, Winnie Surong and Margaret Erickson. As was to be expected they gave good performances, while Mrs. Marion Brown as "Ruth" seemed to live her part.

Credit should be given to those who had charge of the stage. The settings were highly effective. Those who were not at the Opera House last Saturday missed a good evening's entertainment.

WEEKLY LETTER

Enormous quantities of highly fertile surface soil have been carried away by the high winds this spring from fallowed fields on many farms throughout the Chinook belt. The damage done is appalling indeed when considered in terms of plant food blown away and consequent reduced future yields, yet it is quite true that in most cases this drifting could have been very largely prevented. This fact is being demonstrated right here in the centre of most of the Chinook area where many farmers have, so far this spring, kept their soil from moving to any great extent in spite of the high winds that have prevailed. It is indeed deplorable that so much soil drifting has occurred when most of this could have been prevented by early cultivation properly done.

Methods of checking soil drifting were discussed in an earlier letter from this Station and the present seems an opportune time to review the problem while still fresh in mind, following the experiences of the past few weeks.

Soil drifting usually occurs on bare, unprotected fallow land where the surface soil has become very finely pulverized as a result of cultivation especially during the late summer and fall, followed by thawing and freezing during the winter and early spring. This pulverized soil offers very little resistance to the high Chinook winds, that are so prevalent here during late winter and early spring, and is easily carried away if left exposed on the surface.

In combating soil drifting two main principles are used. One is to reduce the effect of the wind by means of wind-break, cover crop, trash or stubble covering such as is used in ploughless summer-fallow, and finally strip farming. The other principle employed in checking the drifting is to bring up unaval-erized lumps from below the soil surface, by means of cultivation, and at the time lift the pulverized soil down below the surface. In practice there are different ways of accomplishing these two main objectives.

Cultivation early in the spring is imperative for just as the irrigation farmer needs to irrigate before the crop shows any signs of burning, so the dry land farmer needs to cultivate his last year summer-fallow before the soil starts to drift because control measures are less effective and more difficult to apply once the soil has started to move.

During late winter and early spring when the ground may be partly frozen and the soil is wet, the disc harrow is best if used single for producing this lumpy condition of the surface soil. Later when the ground is free from frost the duck foot cultivator is generally recommended. When the land is wet drag harrow is often quite effective as a means of puddling the soil on the surface and forming lumps that are large enough to resist the wind.

Contrary to the belief that has prevailed for a long time organic matter in the soil is not helpful in controlling soil drifting, unless it is present as root fibres that actually form a sod. Instead, the presence of excessive amounts of organic matter in the surface soil is apt to aggravate rather than reduce the menace. This is explained by the fact already mentioned that one of the main essentials in preventing soil drifting is to keep the surface soil lump or in a more or less puddled condition, whereas organic matter tends to prevent puddling or formation of lumps.

The value and importance of strip farming in controlling soil drifting have been fully demonstrated and leading authorities and many practical farmers have expressed the view that every dry land farm in the chinook belt where summer-fallow is used should be stripped.

We want the news. Will you help us get it?

Child Is Killed In Accident

The two year old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Olei, who farm about one mile north and west of town was killed in an accident Tuesday morning and was buried Wednesday at 4 p.m. the Rev. Buchin being in charge of the service.

As near as the story can be learned, Mr. Olei had been harrowing, and was stopped when a neighbor came to get some potatoes and Mr. Olei went down the cellar with him to assist in the sacking, leaving the team hooked to the barrow and standing by the house.

When he came into the house after the neighbor had left, his wife asked him where the baby was, and when he replied that he didn't know, a search was started which took them to the neighbors, and lasted for nearly an hour, when the mother stepped around the house and discovered the body of her child in the barrow, the neck apparently broken and life extinct. Just what happened no one knows.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the parents in their sad and very sudden bereavement.

Wedding Bells

SNOW — GEHMLICH

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Gehmlich, sister of Karl and Fritz, and Gerald Snow, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Snow of Milk River, was solemnized in Lethbridge last Saturday, April 21st, at the home of Bishop Ursenbach, and Mrs. T. Geo. Wood, where the bride has made her home since the death of her mother, served a wedding dinner on Sunday for the bride and groom and immediate relatives.

Gerald, or 'Dob' as he is familiarly known, is teaching at Manyberries, but the young couple expect to make their future home here. The best wishes of the community go out to the young couple, who are both popular members of the younger set of the town.

WRIGHT — McPHEE

Ella, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. McPhee, Raymond and Mr. Austin E. Wright, of Milk River were united in marriage last Sunday, the Minister of the United Church in Lethbridge officiating.

They will make their home in Milk River, where the father of the groom has extensive farming interests.

The best wishes of the people here will go with the bride to her new home, and she will be missed here by a wide circle of friends, as she has been a popular young lady.

W. E. Peterson, of Kalispell who used to live here some years ago, was a visitor in the district last week, and the first of this. He reports conditions as showing marked improvement in Montana.

The officials of the Sugar City Golf Club have been very busy for the past three weeks or so, enlarging the greens, and sanding them, improving the fairways, erecting a new Club House, and in general overhauling the Course and getting it in readiness for the opening.

Now this work is finished, and the opening is set for Wednesday afternoon, May 2nd, the fun commencing at 1 p.m. The ladies have prepared lunch, to be served during the afternoon, and 25c. will pay for your lunch and give you the privilege of playing golf all afternoon.

And another thing, for those who have not played the game before, members of the Club will be pleased to get interested parties started by loaning them Clubs for the afternoon and helping them start the game. The officials are anxious that a good crowd will be on hand for the opening, and make the Course and Sugar City Golf Club a real success this year.

WHOOPIING COUGH

WHO ARE THE REAL GUYS?

The definition of course would vary, according to the business profession or desires, of those who said so and so was a real guy. In the case of the merchant it is the person who pays his bill, in the case of the employer it is the individual who pays all the bills, and so on and so on.

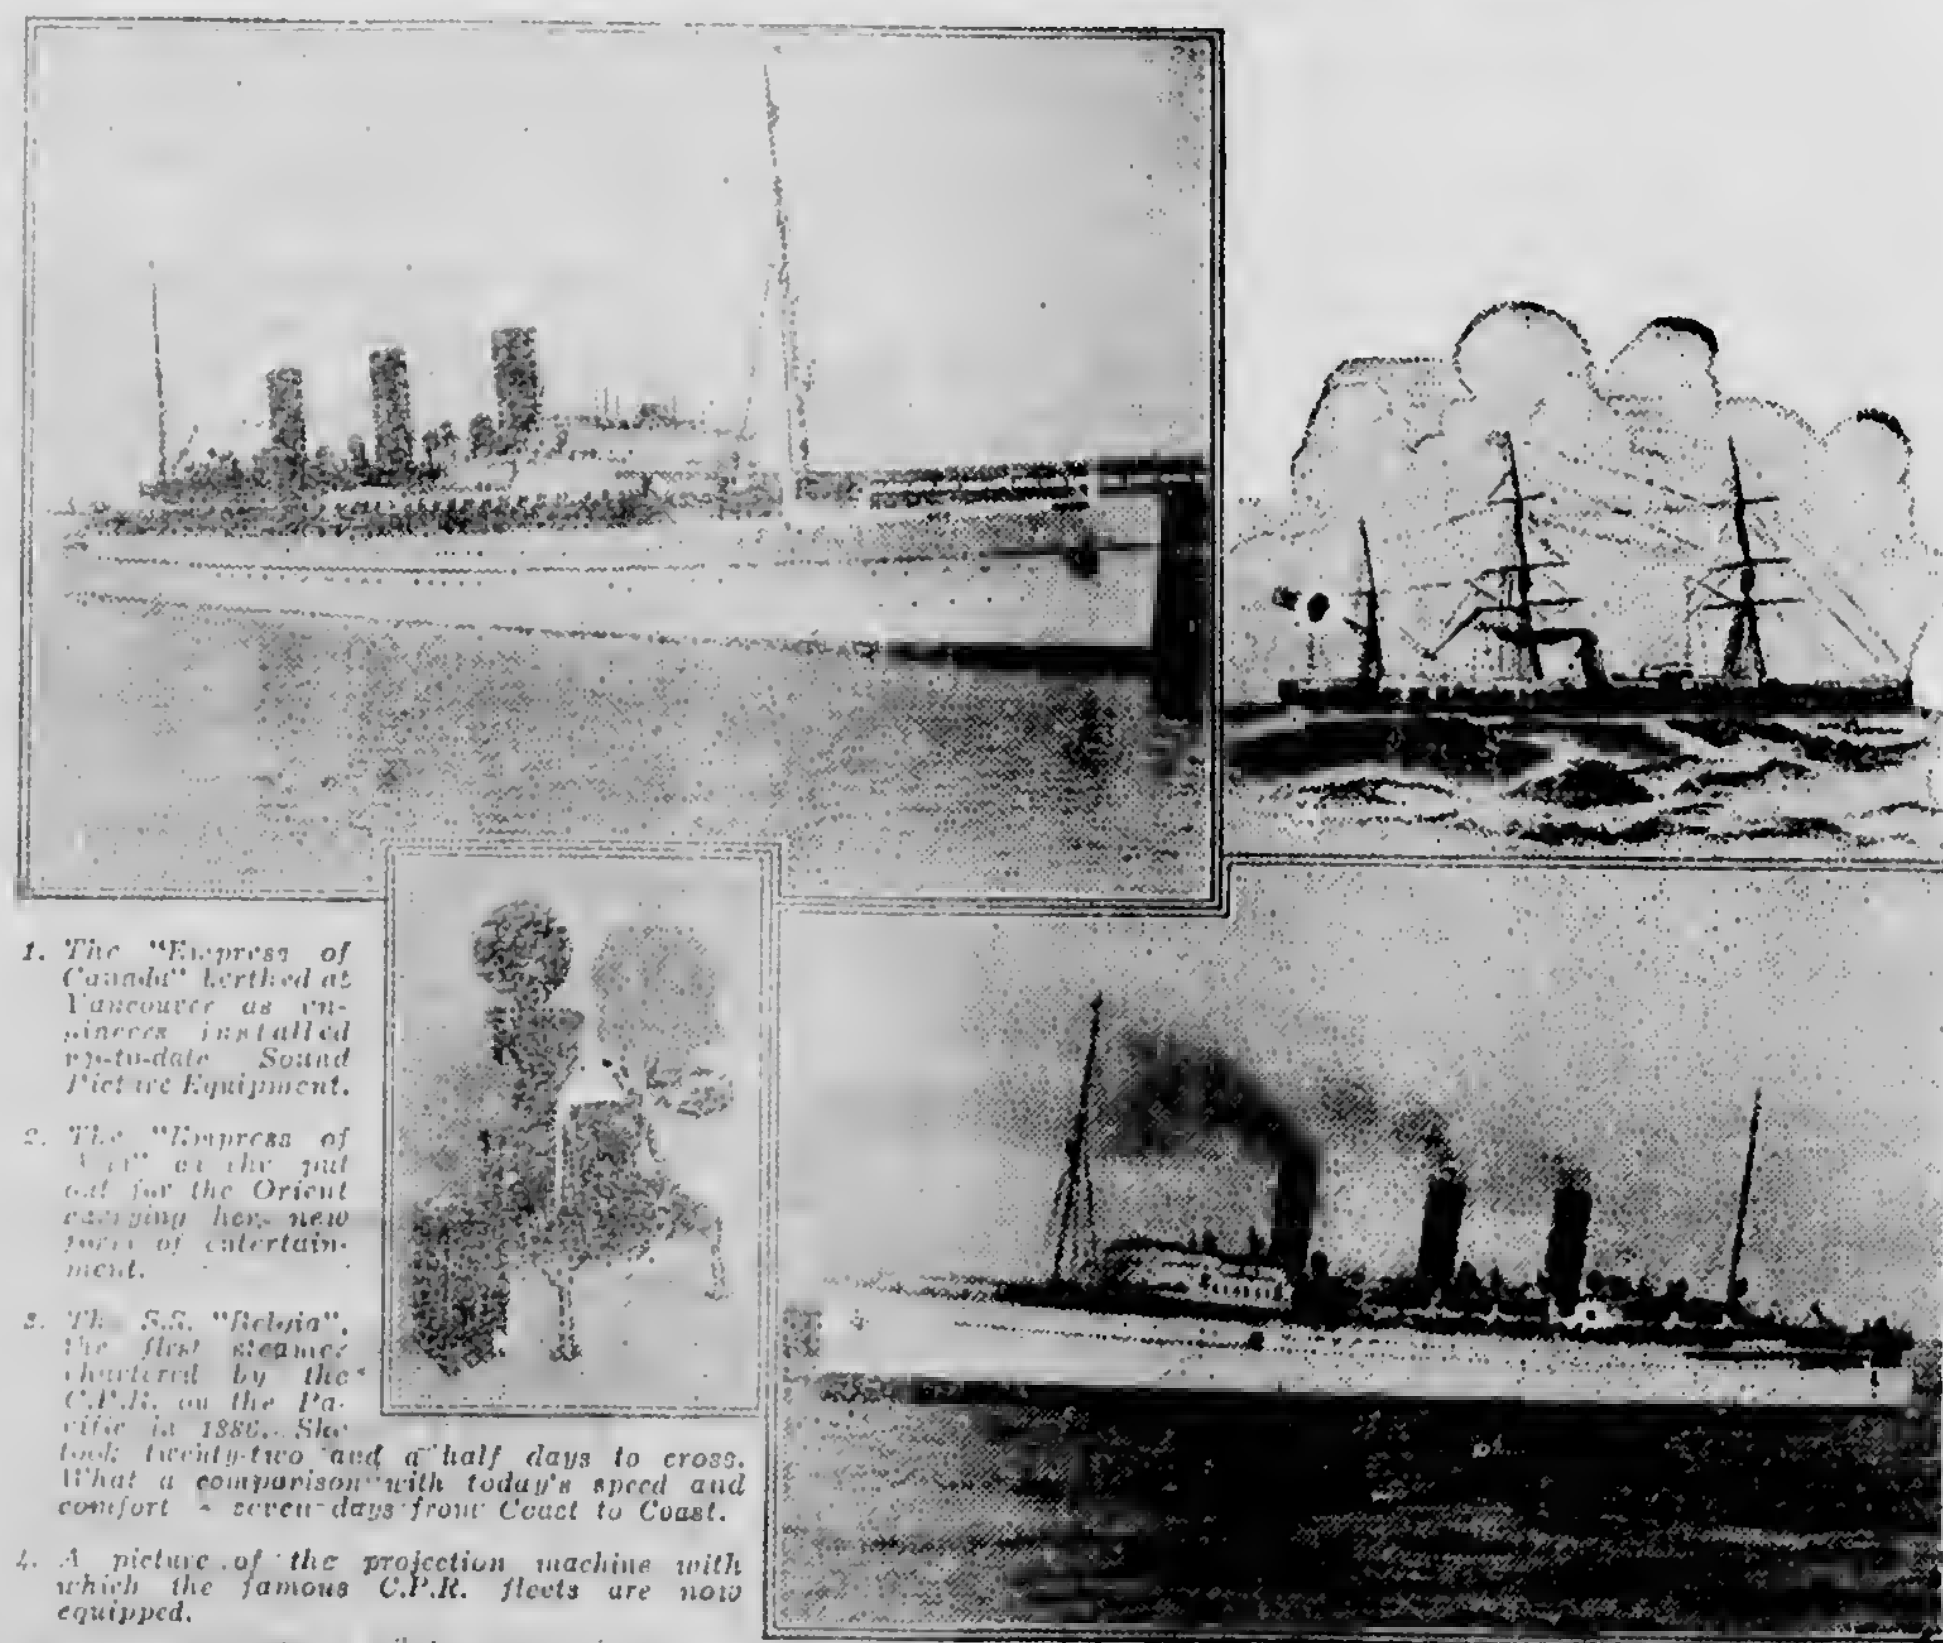

Well, with us it is the subscriber who pays up, without having to be continually nagged and nagged about it. A year's subscription is not very much, and would not be very hard to pay. When it is 2 years it is more difficult, and the longer it goes the more difficult it becomes to pay.

When we say that those who came in and square up are real guys, we mean it all. These subscription accounts help us over many unpleasant financial situations, and make the going much easier, but the unpleasant thing about it is that so many forget that the editor needs any subscriptions to keep going.

Now folks, who is the real guy, You or us? We keep on sending the paper, and you keep on taking it. Whether you want it or not, we don't know, but we presume that you do, because you keep taking it from the office. When a settlement must be made, and we piece for payment for a subscription account, we certainly get told plain enough then, that we are no real guy. Anything else but that. Well, are we to blame. We can't read your minds. We do our part in supplying the paper and rely on you to do yours in paying for it. Sometimes we get fooled, but not very often. Most of our patrons are "Real Guys."

Now folks, if you are in arrears, please come in. If you haven't the cash, maybe we can trade, and square up some way. And if you can't pay it all, maybe you can pay a little bit to help us along, and to keep things in good standing until brighter and better days come. Help us out please, and let's all of us keep on being "Real Guys" to each other.

What About Social Credit in Canada?

This series is an explanation of the Douglas Social Credit Plan, Mr. Williams, (W.) a Social Credit advocate, is explaining the plan to his friend, Mr. Jones (J.). The scene is Mr. Williams' home, and the conversation takes place during an evening visit.

By following this series to the conclusion the reader will clearly understand the problem which faces Canada.

NUMBER 11

W. "Now, let us see how far we have got. First, we found that our economic system had three factors,—production, distribution, and consumption. We found that production as such was satisfactory and that consumption would fulfil its part if given the opportunity. That left distribution to be considered and it was our financial system that seemed to be at fault. We examined our financial system and found that all money in our modern world originates in the banking system and that the creation of money costs a bank nothing but ordinary book-keeping expenses. The money thus created was loaned to producers and was considered a debt to the bank. If and when the loan was repaid the money was cancelled or destroyed. Incidentally we saw that the real value of this money was based on the real credit of the country as a going concern but that the banker assumes ownership of what we have called a ticket system he is allowed to administer. Then we found that owing to the irrational control of credit money was generally recalled and destroyed before the goods were on the market. This meant that these goods could not be claimed unless new money were available.

J. "Wait, there's something I didn't quite get before. You mentioned something about purchasing power distributed in respect to future production. What was that? What did you mean?"

W. "I'm glad you mentioned it. I had meant to tell you about it some time ago. Douglas says that the only way in which our system runs at all is in the continuous lending of money by the banks to finance future production. That is it is only by keeping or making goods, whether we need them or not, that we can get enough purchasing power to buy the goods that are already on sale."

J. "By Jove! And that means that when the banks begin calling in loans, and refusing to renew or make new loans, that we are on the verge of a depression."

W. "That's the answer. You can check up on it. But you must be careful to take notice of the cause. Bankers are only human and if they feel a period of expansion threatens to disturb the normal ratio between loans and cash, it is only natural that they should call a halt. If in their judgment (far from infallible) the situation demands deflation the bankers at once proceed to give effect to this policy regardless of the human misery it entails."

J. "But there must be some way out!"

W. "Yes, thank God, there is a way out and if you'll be patient just a little longer we will come to it."

There is just one thing more I want you to notice and that is the peculiar features which seem to accompany those periods which we call "prosperous." (Although strictly speaking, we've never seen real prosperity yet and we are not likely to until we get Social Credit.) What I want you to notice is this. Take the War period. Although we all know that it was a time of mental and physical agony it was a time of economic prosperity. What caused this prosperity?

J. "Well, I should not like to venture a guess seeing how mistaken I have been in my ideas. But at least I remember it was a period of high prices."

W. "Yes, high prices for goods and yet people were able to pay these high prices and consume more than in peace time."

The fact is that the flaw in our price system was being overcome. The shortage of purchasing power was being made up by the distribution of a sum of money that was not entering into the price of consumer's goods on the home market. This sum of money, huge in volume, was distributed to producers for making goods that we distributed free—to the enemy! No attempt was made to collect this sum from the home market."

J. "But we are still paying for the war!"

W. "Because we are blind fools and because we are in the hands of arrogant knaves. The war was paid for as it was fought. The real cost of the war was the physical cost. Tell me, did we or did we not work, men and women, to produce all the munitions, equipment, etc. which were consumed in the war besides our ordinary commercial production?"

J. "Why naturally, we had to!"

W. "Yes, and having done all the work, 'naturally' we have to pay tribute for decades to those who wrote a few figures in a book and allowed us to use our own credit to create money which facilitated the production of all this output that won the War!"

J. "You sound quite heated."

W. "I am, whenever I think of the colossal nerve of finance-

ALBERTA CROP REPORT NO. 1, 1934

Issued by Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

In sharp comparison with the spring season of 1933, which was unusually late due to heavy late snowfalls, the spring of 1934 saw work on the land commenced at a comparatively early date the season being dry and open for the most part. In the southern and eastern districts this year, most farmers were at work upon the land during the first week in April, two weeks earlier than in 1933, and seeding became general in these areas by April 16th, as compared with the first week in May last year. In central and northern Alberta spring work started this year during the week of April 16 and is now fairly general but seeding will not become general until the first of May, and somewhat later in the more northern districts. Seeding in some southern areas is almost 50 per cent. completed at this date.

Surface moisture conditions generally throughout the province are good, but there is comparatively little reserve moisture, save in some of the northern districts. In the south, while moisture conditions are better than for some years, very high winds have prevailed at periods during the last two weeks, rapidly drying the land, and in a few areas where strip farming is not yet in practice, soil drifting has been bad. The central and northern areas have also experienced some high winds, but moisture conditions are very satisfactory in most of these areas, in fact, the land in some of the northern localities is still quite wet, and spring work consequently later.

There is a definite indication of some decrease in wheat acreage in some districts this spring but just how extensive this will be it is a little early to ascertain. Coarse grains will be seeded to a greater extent in consequence. Shortage of seed in some districts will tend to a further limitation of wheat acreage, as will also the policy of the provincial government in providing seed relief only for summer-fallow areas.

Grasshoppers may appear early in southern areas, and infestation will be serious in certain localities. The control campaign under the direction of the provincial field crops branch is now fully organized, and poison bait distribution will commence at the earliest moment necessary.

Superb seedling in the irrigated areas in the south is approaching completion under very satisfactory conditions.

Live stock generally speaking is in fairly good condition, following a winter which varied greatly between periods of extreme cold and very mild weather. There is a shortage of feed in a number of districts, and a limited amount of assistance in this respect is being by the provincial government to needy farmers, as is the case in shortage of seed. Cattle market prices have continued throughout the winter at a very low level, without much indication of improvement. Shipments have been going forward steadily to the British market, a total of 3,663 having been shipped from Alberta, leading a country its own credit and charging interest on it."

But there has been another period of so-called prosperity. What about the period of 1928-9? What did you notice then?"

berta up to the second week in April, compared with 1,031 head in the same period of last year. Hog prices have been well sustained throughout the winter at good levels, and while there was some decline this spring, there has been a recovery during the past week.

The following reports have been received during the present week:

Medicine Hat — Unusually good moisture conditions beginning of April but high winds lessened supply and caused drifting. Seven per cent. seeding done. Small reduction acreage. No alarm re grasshoppers as yet. Live stock fairly good.

Empress — Moisture conditions fair. High winds delayed spring work. Some seed shortage. Acreage about the same as last year. Grasshoppers appearing. Live stock fairly good.

Lethbridge — Surface moisture ideal. Some severe dust storms. Wheat seeding general April 10, about 25 per cent. completed. Some decrease in acreage. Short of feed in range districts. No serious losses. Live stock thin but early growth of grass encouraging. Hopper infestation anticipated.

Pincher Creek — Spring work general, seeding general next week. Moisture conditions good. Some reduction acreage through lack of seed and horse power. Hopper infestation bad. Stock is thin but feed supply sufficient if weather holds.

Vulcan — Spring work commenced on 7th, seeding on 13th. Moisture conditions good. No decrease in acreage. Grasshopper eggs are in abundance. Live stock in fair shape. Feed being shipped in.

Brooks — Spring work general here on 15th. Seeding general May 1st. Moisture conditions good but soil drying out rapidly. Wheat acreage will be reduced and coarse grains increased. Live stock in good condition.

Hanna — Considerable soil drifting, but soil moisture better than for some years. Seeding general April 14. Wheat acreage will show decrease owing to restrictions on seed distribution. Hopper eggs developing normally. Grain shortage feed and live stock rather poor.

Rockyford — Spring work general on the 12th. Seeding gen-

Check Common Constipation
with a Delicious Cereal

Food has a lot to do with how you feel and how you look. For instance, you need plenty of "bulk" with your meals to avoid the risk of common constipation.

This ailment frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet, in most cases, it can be overcome pleasantly and safely by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's All-Bran furnishes "bulk" in convenient and concentrated form. Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in All-Bran is safe and effective. In fact, it is much like that found in leafy vegetables.

Within the body, the fiber of All-Bran absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

In addition, All-Bran provides vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this sunny way better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoonsful of All-Bran daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. All-Bran makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Enjoy All-Bran as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Be sure you get Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

For spring work yet, will not be general for another week. Moisture good. Acreage about same as last year. Live stock fair, feed adequate.
